

Commercial Water Treatment Solutions

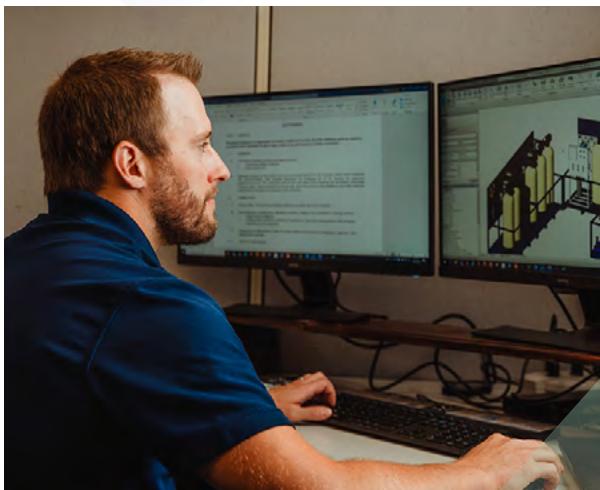

From Concept to Commissioning

Water treatment made simple

Your one-stop provider for custom-built water treatment systems

With over 50 years of experience, WCC is a recognized leader in commercial water treatment solutions. Our engineering team and online tools create a ‘white glove experience’ for specifiers, contractors, and other industry professionals. We provide water testing, fast system designs, custom specifications, 3D Revit® Families, local startup services, and much more. WCC can service any water treatment project, from small offices, to full-size hospitals, to very large industrial applications.

Design

Proper system design is critical, so WCC begins every project with a comprehensive application questionnaire and a water analysis. The process does not end until every potential pitfall has been addressed. Upon completion of the design phase, clients receive custom construction documents and budgetary pricing information.

02

Documentation

As initial system designs are further perfected, WCC’s design team creates a library of custom project documentation. This documentation includes as-built 3D BIM models (Revit®), site-specific schematics, custom Division 22 or 23 specifications (AIA® format), precise system price quotations, and detailed project submittals.

Fabrication

WCC builds highly-customized water treatment packages. Our team of skilled fabricators, plumbers, and electricians pair with industry leading suppliers to produce functional, long lasting equipment—all according to approved project plans and specs. No equipment ships without passing an array of live testing procedures.

04

Commissioning

Successful commissioning requires an expert on site. WCC is proud to have a team of highly-qualified service technicians and local representatives. This team travels to the jobsite to address installation issues, activate/calibrate equipment, train owners, and deal with any warranty issues. We also offer aftermarket service plans.
